Tobey Asks Senate To Split Embargo Bill in Two Parts

One Senator Would Repeal Arms Ban, Second Would Restrict U. S. Trade and Travel

George's Forecast

Georgia Senator Believes Amendment Is on Tap for Shipping

Washington, Oct. 10 (AP)—Senator Tobey (R-NH) urged the Senate today to divide the administration's neutrality bill into two parts—one repealing the existing arms embargo and the other imposing restrictions on American shipping and travel to belligerent zones.

Tobey asked that the shipping and travel section be voted on at once to safeguard Americans. He contended that procedure would not forestall early action on repealing the arms embargo, a move recommended by President Roosevelt.

"Leaders in the Senate and the country have agreed that the causes which drew us into the last European conflict were the seizure and sinking of American merchant vessels carrying cargoes to belligerents," Tobey asserted.

In midst of war

"American merchant ships are at this moment in the midst of war zones and carrying cargoes destined for the belligerents. There is great danger that some of them will be sunk—perhaps by mistake, perhaps deliberately tomorrow, next week, or next month.

"Thus, by extensive debate by the Congress on the arms-embargo-repeal section of the bill we are holding up passage of those sections designed to keep our ships out of the danger zones, xxx

"We should put first things first.

"There are subtle, unseen forces working constantly to draw us into this European war. No action that we can take will be more discouraging to such forces than the action which is contemplated in my motion, to take our ships out of the war zones immediately, thereby eliminating a recurrence of the causes which drew us into the last war.

Earlier Democratic members of the Senate foreign relations committee said that they would meet soon to consider relation of the restrictions on shipping in the neutrality measure.

'Happy' Chandler Becomes Senator

Central Association To Consider Plans

One of the most important meetings of the year will be held by the Central Business Men's Association at the Y. M. C. A. tonight for discussion of the new Broadway crossing elimination plans.

President Harry B. Walker urges a full attendance of members for the session which is scheduled to start at 8 o'clock. Besides the crossing discussion there will be election of officers for the ensuing year and formulation of plans for the annual merchandising campaign.

GOP Says Lehman Would Avoid Fight

Senator George (D., Ga.) said an amendment probably would be proposed to permit American vessels to visit Australia, New Zealand and Canada. He added that "we may be able to ease the restrictions so that our ships can operate in zones which are not dangerous."

Governor's First Move Seen as Desire to Keep Budget Hearings on Peace Level

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 10 (AP)—Republicans saw Governor Lehman's first move toward adjourning "politics" today, as a safeguard against repetition of the 1939 wrangle over the state budget, but stood by their right to oppose his coming financial proposals.

The Democratic Governor yesterday invited Republican and Democratic legislative leaders to attend all hearings on the 1940-1941 budget, beginning October 23, "so that they may fully familiarize themselves with the needs of the various state agencies."

The invitation followed the Chief Executive's September 7 proposal for a "truce on politics" and bi-partisan cooperation on important state problems during the emergency created by European war.

Republican Senate Leader Joe R. Hanley expressed hope cooperation "might result" and produce an executive budget on which "we can go along."

Hanley, a vigorous exponent of the $25,000,000 slash which the Republican legislative majority effected in Lehman's $415,000,000 proposal for 1939-1940, asserted, however, "this doesn't mean I will accept whatever budget the Governor prepares."

Don't Josh Tom

Boston Draw Tender Not in Kidding Mood; His Auto Is Reason

Chelsea, Mass., Oct. 10 (AP)—As you value your life, don't josh about his smashed automobile today.

Currier is a draw tender, an expert, on a new bridge here, and he drove his brightly polished sedan to work last night, parking it in front of the draw house. A new man came to work and Currier signalled for traffic to stop, then threw the lever to show the new man how things worked.

It all worked beautifully, except that Currier's car rolled back down the incline, stopping only when the 50-ton steel and concrete draw balancer descended on it, driving the motor into the street and doing such various other damage as $1,000 would do.

Sixth Child Is Born To Mrs. Grover Bergdoll

Philadelphia, Oct. 10 (AP)—Mrs. Berta Bergdoll, wife of Grover Bergdoll, World War draft dodger, gave birth today to a girl—her sixth child.

Mrs. Bergdoll was with her husband last week when a court martial at New York found him guilty of deserting the United States Army and added three years to his five-year sentence for draft dodging.

Sunday she accompanied her 84-year-old mother-in-law, Mrs. Emma Bergdoll, on a visit to the Governors Island, N. Y., military prison which holds her husband.

Pay checks for the election officials who served here on Primary Day are now ready and may be obtained at the city clerk's office in the city hall.

AFL Refuses Any Endorsement for FDR, New Deal

Convention at Cincinnati Finds Blanket Vote for Policies Can't Be Given Today

Cincinnati, Oct. 10 (AP)—The American Federation of Labor convention voted non-concurrence today with a resolution calling for endorsement of President Roosevelt and the New Deal.

Without debate or the tumult that attended previous discussion of the Roosevelt administration, the convention upheld a resolutions committee findings that the federation could not give the "blanket endorsement" called for in the resolution submitted by the Connecticut State Federation of Labor.

The voice vote on the committee's recommendation for non-concurrence sounded close, but AFL President William Green ruled the vote supported the committee.

Draws No Distinction

The committee pointed out the distinction between congressional and administrative action in its plea for a New Deal endorsement. It also voiced opposition to the "concocted opposition to the 'concocted' of both parties."

The report pointed out the AFL's record of criticism against the National Labor Relations Board, its appointees, the removal of the prevailing wage from the relief bill and the first executive reorganization bill.

"Your committee is fully conscious of the many legislative and executive acts which have proven most beneficial to labor," the committee said, "some of them, such as the social security, providing a necessary protection to labor which should have been enacted many years ago."

"Your committee, however, has cited several instances where the American Federation of Labor in its efforts to protect labor's rights and welfare, has been forced to oppose legislation understood to have originated by the 'New Deal'."

The hearty support which the trade union movement has given to a large number of 'New Deal' measures should not lead this convention to give its blanket endorsement to all legislation which has been proposed or enacted by the so-called 'New Deal,' neither should our opposition to certain 'New Deal' legislative and administrative acts permit us to voice condemnation of the 'New Deal.'"

John J. Egan, the Connecticut Federation of Labor delegate, was the only speaker in behalf of the resolution. He told the convention he regretted some action was not taken on the proposal to "give credit where credit is due."

"No one has done more for organized labor than President Roosevelt," he said.

"Labor in Connecticut is serving notice on the Republicans and Democrats that we are not going to stand for reactionaries on either side."

British Postpone Peace Action in Face Of Hitler's Threat to 'Fight It Out;' Anglo Dominions Get Chance to Speak

Russia Is Trying To Regain Control Over Baltic Waters

Kronstadt Dispatches Say Armada of Battleships, Troops Carry on Endless Activity

Study Is Made

Sailors Are Said to Be Studying Geography and Peoples

Moscow, Oct. 10 (AP)—Reports of a concentration of Russian naval power in the Gulf of Finland emphasized today the vigor of Soviet Russia's drive to regain the dominant position in the Baltic Sea she held before the World War.

Dispatches from Kronstadt, the big naval base near Leningrad, said that a "whole armada of battleships" was massed there and that naval and military activity was unceasing.

Kronstadt is only a few miles from Finland's territorial waters. A Finnish mission was en route to Moscow for one more in the series of Russian conferences with envoys of Baltic states in which Russia has been gaining sweeping concessions.

Troops on Borders

The naval mobilization also coincided with the massing of hundreds of thousands of Soviet troops along the frontiers facing the Baltic states.

Reports from the frontier said "military trains daily go to the Baltic area" while sailors are studying the geography of the Baltic states as well as the habits of the people.

The impending arrival of representatives from Finland was disclosed in Moscow for the first time in a dispatch from Helsinki announcing the departure of a delegation headed by Dr. Juho Kusti Paasikivi, Finnish minister to Stockholm, in response to the Kremlin's invitation.

The Finnish delegation was expected here tomorrow to exchange opinions on unspecified political and economic problems.

Center of Activity

Thus, Soviet Russia continued to be the center of European diplomatic activity with four-cornered negotiations under way or about to be started.

Conversations already were going on between Soviet leaders and representatives of Lithuania and Turkey who are here. A trade agreement with Germany is under discussion and talks with the Finns will be started, probably tomorrow.

Moscow newspapers reported that Sweden had purchased 102 warplanes and 10 torpedo boats from Germany under an agreement made prior to the outbreak of war.

The Kremlin, however, remained a big enigma. Although the Russian press continued to attack Britain and France the government's moves seemed intended to seize strategic advantages which would be of immense value if Russia ever went to war against Germany.

R. G. Elliott Dies At 65; Known As Executioner

New York, Oct. 10 (AP)—Robert G. Elliott, official executioner for five eastern states, died today at his home in Richmond Hill, Queens.

Announcement of his death was made by his son, Robert G. Elliott, Jr. The executioner, who was 65, had been ill since last May. The cause of death was given as coronary embolism.

Elliott had spent part of the summer in a sanatorium.

Among the persons he put to death were Bruno Richard Hauptmann, kidnaper of the Lindbergh baby; and Sacco and Vanzetti, convicted in Massachusetts of murder and the central figures in a world wide protest.

Elliott's condition improved so much in recent weeks that he returned to his home on October 2. That day, his son said, he took a walk around the block and visited with old friends.

The son said he believed the exercise was too much for him because he suffered a relapse and since that time had been under the care of two physicians.

Foe of Executions

Elliott was an outspoken foe of the legalized killing from which he derived his livelihood.

"It doesn't do any good," he said repeatedly.

"There is a certain satisfaction the state gets—a sort of revenge. But we keep on getting these terrible criminals just the same."

Elliott had spun the rheostat dials of death for more than 300 murders during his 13-year career, including Ruth Snyder and her illicit lover, Judd Gray; and "Two-Gun" Crowley, notorious bandit.

A tactician man who kept his calling a secret even from his children, Elliott, or "Pop," as he was called, showed signs of fraying nerves in the months preceding his final illness.

In October, 1928, he complained to Massachusetts prison officials that the electric chair, the oldest in the nation, was dangerous and that he "couldn't breathe easily."

United States Given Promise

Rules for Treatment of Prisoners of War as Contained in 1929 Treaty to Be Observed by British, French and Germans

Washington, Oct. 10 (AP)—Great Britain, Germany and France have promised the United States that they will abide by the rules for treatment of prisoners of war contained in a 1929 Geneva treaty.

The state department sent notes to the three nations as a preliminary to undertaking the work of checking treatment of British and French prisoners in Germany. This is in line with the American agreement to look after Anglo-French interests in the Baltic.

The notes asked for assurances that the powers would regard the rules of the Geneva convention as applicable in the present war. Affirmative replies have been received from all.

The state department, therefore, is prepared to go ahead with inspection of German prison camps containing British or French officers and soldiers.

The rules that American diplomatic officials must see applied guarantee a prisoner of war against confiscation of his money and personal effects and against being mistreated in any way for refusal to give information regarding his army.

He may be put to work, but his labors can have no direct connection with the prosecution of the war. He must be paid the same wage scale as civilian employees doing the same kind of work in the same district.

He must be given every medical attention and, if seriously ill or injured, must be sent back to his own country.

If he is charged with a criminal offense, he must be given a public trial.

Chamberlain Defers His Speech in Commons as Fuehrer Gives His Yearly Relief Speech

Neutrals Fearful

Finland Sends Mission to Moscow for Talks of Importance

(By The Associated Press)

Britain today postponed replying to what Adolf Hitler terms his "readiness for peace."

A House of Commons speech by Prime Minister Chamberlain, which some expected would be Britain's reply, was put off from Wednesday to Thursday to permit consultation with the British dominions.

All Finnish civilians who can go were urged to make immediate preparations to leave the environs of Helsinki and Viipuri in a broadcast tonight by Minister of the Interior Urho Kekkonen. He said the measure was purely precautionary but the sooner carried out the better.

Hitler, opening the annual Nazi winter relief campaign, repeated that Germany would "fight it out" if the peace overtures of his Friday Reichstag speech were rejected by the British-French allies.

Air Minister Sir Kingsley Wood declared in the House of Commons that the war already had proved British warplanes were "definitely better" than their German counterparts.

Three Killed, Three Hurt In Manhattan Blast

Cleaning Establishment Explosion at Madison Square Wall of Theatre

New York, Oct. 10 (AP)—Three or more persons were killed and 31 others injured today when an explosion wrecked a day cleaning plant and tore through the wall of a motion picture theatre.

The dead included Sylvia Binder, manager of the day cleaning shop.

Police Commissioner Valentino said 19 persons, including several pedestrians hit by flying debris, were taken to hospitals. A dozen others were treated at the scene.

Theatre Wrecked

New York, Oct. 10 (AP)—At least two persons, one a woman, were killed, and a score or more of other persons were injured today when an explosion wrecked a day cleaning establishment and collapsed the wall of an adjoining theatre near Madison Square.

Approximately 75 persons were watching a motion picture in the theatre when the blast occurred. Several women fainted and were rescued by students from nearby City College of New York.

Sylvia Binder, manager of the cleaning establishment, was listed as missing.

Police Commissioner Lewis J. Valentine directed a search of the ruins for other possible victims.

Among the first injured persons to be identified were Mr. and Mrs. George Halpin, of Lenox, Mass., who suffered head injuries.

The detonation shattered windows almost a block away and brought a huge crowd to the vicinity of Fourth avenue and 23rd street.

The explosion occurred in a five story brick building.

Count Is Buried

Geneva, Oct. 10 (AP)—Simple services attended by relatives and a few friends marked the burial today of Count Johann Heinrich von Bernstorff, German ambassador to the United States during the World War.

Count von Bernstorff, who had retired from political life, died October 6.

Crossings Hearing Vital to Citizens

Public Meeting to Be Held at City Hall Chambers Tomorrow Evening

The grade crossing elimination public hearing to be held Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in the Common Council chambers in the city hall is expected to be attended by a record crowd of interested residents. The hearing is of vital importance to every resident of the city for undoubtedly the course of action to be pursued will be the result of expressions of opinion made at this hearing.

After agitation for crossing elimination for a quarter of a century, it now appears up to the residents of Kingston to express an opinion on the tentative plan calling for the elimination of all grade crossings of the West Shore railroad in the city by depressing the tracks.

Motorists and pedestrians, who have been held up at the grade crossings, will have an opportunity on Wednesday evening to express their opinion on the plan to eliminate these hazards.

'Meanest' Thief

Watertown, Mass., Oct. 10 (AP)—This fellow—when they find him—will get his name placed high on the list of "meanest" thieves. He stole a doll carriage from Jeanette Hogan, 2½, as she aired her doll last night. Her tearful pleas stopped him just long enough to permit her to rescue the doll and a blanket before he trundled the buggy away.

Wants Less Champagne

London, Oct. 10 (AP)—Lady Astor wants less champagne imported into Britain during the war. Speaking in the House of Commons today she tried to impress on the board of trade that champagne was a non-essential commodity which, in her opinion, could well be excluded during the emergency.

Rabbi Miller Opens Drive for $20,000 Last Evening for United Jewish Appeal

A drive to raise Kingston's quota of $20,000 for the United Jewish Appeal opened Monday evening with a rally of the campaign workers in the auditorium of the Kingston High School which was marked with a stirring address by Rabbi Irving Miller of Far Rockaway, L. I. Mayor C. J. Heiselein officially opened the drive here, which it is planned to conclude this week.

Mayor Heiselein was introduced by Attorney Arthur B. Ewig who said that the mayor in times past had shown his interest in the problems that confronted the Jews today. Speaking briefly the mayor said that the American people were ready at all times to alleviate human suffering, and he knew that the present appeal for funds to be used in aiding refugees in Europe would go over the top in Kingston.

In America, the mayor said, everyone has the necessities of life and even the luxuries of life, and that the Jews and Christians alike in the city would do their full duty in this pressing need.

The need for funds this year, the mayor said, was greater than ever before. Here in this country where we enjoy all of the liberties of life, freedom of speech and religious freedom we should be more than willing to assist financially those on the other side who were being persecuted and made homeless.

Mayor Heiselein said that he was willing at all times to do anything he possibly could to make the drive a success. "We need no Communism, Nazism or any other ism but Americanism in our hearts," he said.

Difficult Problem

Fairmount, Ind., Oct. 10 (AP)—A 200-foot section of state road 26, sinking gradually into peaty swampland near Lake Galacia east of here, posed state highway engineers a difficult problem today. The roadbed already has been several feet. Frank Brown, sub-district road supervisor, said he had probed down 45 feet without finding solid ground. Legend says the lake is bottomless.

Price Is Trebled

Budapest Grocers Sell Tea, Coffee Again, but Cost Goes Sky High

Budapest, Oct. 10 (AP)—Tea and coffee, withdrawn from the market two weeks ago, will go on sale again Friday at trebled prices under an order issued today by the Hungarian government, which holds monopolies on both commodities.

The price rises, it was indicated, were imposed to reduce consumption, decrease importation and thus enable the government to use foreign credit to buy war supplies and other vitally needed goods.

Under the new schedule the Hungarian housewife will pay from $2.32 to $3.85 a pound for coffee and $4.30 to $10.60 for tea. Barley water was suggested as a substitute for coffee and tea.

Two Persons Hurt As Cars Crash on Lucas Turnpike

Miss Joyce Townsend, 24, of 78 Mountain View avenue, suffered a broken ankle, and Miss Ruth Burhans, 19, of Lucas avenue extension, a cut over the left eye, when two automobiles collided on Lucas avenue about 6:30 o'clock Monday evening. Both were taken to the Kingston Hospital for treatment. The women were injured when the car driven by James Van Keuren, of 119 Lucas avenue, was in collision with the car driven by Ernest Ostrander of West Park. The crash occurred as Van Keuren was turning into the driveway.

Boy Seeking Job Brought to Court

Patrick Graham, 16, of New York city, who ran away from home to make his own living, was picked up Monday on Broadway on a charge of disorderly conduct. When the boy was arraigned before Judge Cahill in police court the judge deferred disposition of the case until the police department had received a reply to a teletype message sent the New York police last night.

Patrick, in reply to questions by the court, said he had run away from home before. "Why did you run away from home?" asked Judge Cahill. "Because I wanted to make my own living," the boy replied. "You are pretty young for that," reflected the court. "I have got along so far all right," replied the boy.

SHELLS SCREAM IN GENERAL OFFENSIVE

The French high command reported in Paris that the Germans had begun an attack all the way from the Moselle river to Saarbrücken in the most extensive front line action since the war began. Arrows indicate the places where German forces were reported to have begun the offensive.

Men's Club Hears Talk by Mayor

Democracy can work only if our citizens take an active interest in government and what it is doing. Mayor C. J. Heislman told a large audience at a meeting of the Clinton Avenue Church Men's Club last evening.

The mayor gave a detailed description on the purpose and work of the Kingston City Laboratory. He briefly outlined the costs to the city and expenditures connected with the operation of the laboratory and also brought out the fact that a large part of these expenses are met through the laboratory's yearly revenues and state aid.

"Years ago important laboratory tests had to be sent to Albany laboratories and reports sometimes were delayed so long that patients died before proper treatment would be determined and made," said Mayor Heislman. The various departments of the laboratory system were explained as were many of the types of tests made by specialists in this field. Guinea pigs, rabbits, and mice are quarantined in the building and experiments of various nature are conducted on them. This often leads to the saving of human lives. While these animals in many cases must of necessity be operated upon, they are treated with the same kindness and with the same care as are human patients and not, as many people are led to believe, misused or mistreated for scientific purposes.

Commenting on the increased amount of work that is now being handled by our own laboratory, Mayor Heislman pointed to the fact that "only a few tests now are made outside of Kingston." He also stressed the importance to doctors and patients of autopsies, Wasserman's and other important tests.

The mayor talking in his usual friendly and interesting manner was the main speaker at the regular monthly meeting of this organization which also played host to the Port Ewen Men's Club which very generously furnished the entertainment.

Rabbi Opens Drive To Raise $20,000

(Continued from Page One) this country," said the mayor. He said that he had made a modest subscription to the fund and he trusted that every resident in the city would find it possible to make a subscription, both Jew and Christian, to this much needed fund.

Rabbi Bloom of Temple Emanuel introduced Rabbi Miller, the principal speaker of the evening, as one of the outstanding young Jews in America today.

Rabbi Miller, who delivered a stirring address, recalled that he was in Europe prior to the outbreak of war, and that he had been in close touch with the man in the street, both in Paris and London and for some time before the declaration of war the men in the street had believed that some plan would be worked where by war would be averted.

Yet, said the rabbi, the man in the street believed that if war came it would be a war to the finish, to the final ultimate showdown. This showdown has now come and Europe is at the crossroads. They must now turn the corner, and are ready to pay whatever price it will cost.

Within Germany itself the seed has been sown to revolt against the present regime. For six years war had been declared against the Jew in Europe, but democratic Europe believed that the Jew was only a symbol in the present clash; a symbol pointing to further attacks on both Catholicism and Protestantism; on everything that is held dear in this world.

There is no room for Judea in the world of Hitlerism, he said. He recalled that Hitler has since made an offer to the Jews proposing to set apart a part of Poland as a Jewish state into which he would crowd every Jew he could get his hands on.

There was only one answer, he said, to Hitler's plan to form a huge concentration camp in Poland and call it a Jewish state, and that answer was "We don't want any favor or gift at Hitler's hands for his gifts are all poisoned with the idea to annihilate the Jew."

Rabbi Miller said that there was only one national state that the Jew desired and that was Palestine, the country whose history and tradition was tied up with the Jewish race for over 3,000 years.

In this war launched against the Jew there can be no neutrality on the part of the Jew to preserve his nationality and race. As American citizens, he said, we will obey the neutrality law of our country, but even the President of the United States, great liberator as he is, will not expect us to remain as Jews neutral in the war that is being waged against us.

Rabbi Miller said that propaganda had been used to rouse a wave of anti-Semitism even in this country and that in that little section of New York city known as the Rockaways there was an organization that met every Friday night to attack the Jew. This had even resulted in the boycott of Jewish merchants.

The Jews in America, he said, should realize the vital need of assisting the refugees in Europe. They should realize that although they are thousands of miles from the scene of conflict yet their financial help is needed as never before.

Attorney Ewig said that the rally that night was not held to solicit funds but to acquaint everyone with the need of the success of the campaign. Already about $2,000 had been given, and he saw no reason why the quota assigned to Kingston should not be obtained.

The rally opened with prayer by Rabbi Koslowsky of Newburgh and closed with the benediction by Rabbi Harold Marateck of this city.

GOING TO SLEEP

In this mixed-up world, many people can't keep awake and many others can't go to sleep. The latter are probably increasing, and there are increasing efforts to do something about it.

A writer in the Journal of the American Medical Association throws overboard a lot of sacred ideas on that subject. He thinks counting imaginary sheep as they go over an imaginary fence is foolishness. He wouldn't read in bed, either, or tie the conscious mind to any kind of concentrated effort. He would train his mind, as it were, to let his mind alone, and his system would be simply to have no system. The mind should roam wherever it wants to, and if there is no interference the end will be sleep.

It sounds reasonable. That is probably the way most people go to sleep.

There is another way, the opposite of this, which is said to work wonderfully when you once get used to it. You simply stop thinking, making the mind a blank, and then you just naturally go to sleep without knowing it. When not thinking, there is nothing for the mind to do but sleep.

That is probably the way the animals do. But it takes quite an effort for most people to learn the trick.

JOBS

A report on employment in one of the typical midwestern industrial states shows facts like these:

That a shortage of skilled workmen is developing, as a result of the business pick-up and the lack of practical training during the last 10 years.

That employers are expanding the age limits for workmen.

That sales people are being offered salaries along with their commissions.

That it is harder to find women and girls for domestic work.

That applicants for jobs are no longer willing to take "just any kind of work," because they think prosperity is returning and they can pick and choose.

That unfilled orders for women workers are the greatest in a decade.

That some employers are calling for men they do not need now, to line them up for future needs.

That there is now a demand for men without experience.

That people of 40 to 45 years of age now have a fair chance.

These facts are, to many people, more important than what is going on abroad.

"REAL WEALTH"

Very creditable to the business men concerned is a resolution adopted by the recent convention of the National Tool Builders' Association, whose members have many "war orders."

The tool men went on record as "opposed to warfare and in favor of the maintenance of honorable peace." They also said they "hold firmly to their conviction that real wealth is created only by the production of those goods and services which add to the possessions and welfare of all the people."

They are right, of course. They have made a simple, honest statement of sound business principles. But it seems significant to anyone who remembers the hoarse spirit of many representatives of American business in the last war.

REAL PEACE

If we Americans were engaged in war again—which God forbid—we would be united in one cause. At peace, we are not so sure of domestic unity.

This may be all right politically, if partisan passion is not carried too far, in a free country there is value in wholesome criticism by minorities. But in some other fields it doesn't work so well. In labor wars, for example, where fruitless strife tends to thwart normal operation of the economic system, endangering national prosperity and security.

"Peace, like charity, begins at home," the President suggests to the rival labor groups. "Perhaps the highest service we Americans can render at this time is to determine that our personal liberty, our democratic ways of life, our free representative government, make it possible for us to disagree among ourselves over many things without bitterness, and to find quickly the means of settlement and adjustment of controversy when it has gone far enough."

Many Americans, in private life as well as public life, think these destructive quarrels have gone far enough. And so have many feuds and rivalries in the business world.

"The best way to keep out of war," says Col. Frederick Palmer, veteran war correspondent and historian, "is to forge a sword so powerful that, if we have to draw it at all, it will be to lay it on the council table as a card of force, which is the only card that counts in Europe at present."

The worst thing about radio is that it uses up the good jokes so fast.

SLOW EMITTING GALL BLADDER

An employee of a large financial institution was notified of his promotion to a larger branch where he would have daily contacts with shrewd business men wishing to obtain loans. As his present small branch presented "enough" difficulties, he felt that he was unable to accept the promotion, was discouraged with himself, and instead of looking forward to the change he was most unhappy.

He finally visited his physician and told him of his lack of fighting spirit despite the fact that he was not sick. On questioning, the physician found that he had been having some abdominal symptoms—belching, pain on right side of stomach, sleeplessness, and an occasional desire to vomit. The physician advised a dye test and X-ray which showed that while the gall bladder "filled" all right and there was no evidence of stones, it was very slow in emptying. While this slowness might be accounted for by heavy or fatty meals, the physician believed that the "tense" nature of the patient, due to his anxiety, was actually causing a spasm of the gall bladder, thus causing a delay in emptying the bile stored within it. The patient admitted that for some weeks he had taken little or no exercise and had eaten two dinners daily.

The physician pointed out that there was no immediate need of an operation, that if he would try not to worry, would eat smaller meals (eating more often), and take regular "bending" exercises to "squeeze" the liver and increase the flow of bile, the symptoms—dull pain, belching and occasional vomiting—should disappear and he should regain his "fighting" spirit.

The diet consisted of some fat (as fat helps to empty the gall bladder) and plenty of starch food to keep liver well stored with sugar. This is the diet often used when "spasm" is cause of slow emptying of gall bladder.

The exercises consisted of bending from side to side, forwards and backwards, keeping knees straight. The patient soon was free of his symptoms and had regained his confidence.

If you feel blue and discouraged, and your common sense tells you that there is no real reason for this feeling, ask your physician about getting a gall bladder examination.

This Is Fire Prevention Week and Time to Check Up on Yourself

(By The AP Feature Service)
Chicago—There's no place like home for fires.

The National Safety Council takes this week—Fire Prevention Week—as the occasion to report that fires in homes caused one-third of the 1938 fire damage totalling $270,000,000.

Carelessness with such things as heating plants, matches, oily rags, cigars, cigarettes, inflammable dry cleaning fluids and faulty electric wiring caused loss in homes last year of $87,000,000.

Eight major causes of fires in homes in order of importance are rubbish, defective chimneys, combustible roofs, defective heating apparatus, matches and careless smoking, gasoline, kerosene, other inflammable fluids, electrical defects, hot ashes.

Home fires are particularly ruinous because once a fire starts in a home the blaze spreads rapidly to the many combustible articles in the average home. Most home buildings themselves are combustible.

In addition to monetary loss and property damage, about 7,000 persons (half of them children) lose lives annually in home fires, and the cost of ruined financial futures for victimized families, though huge, cannot be estimated.

The National Fire Protection Association comments: "It is common to attribute fire to carelessness. This is too casual an answer. It leaves the impression that there is nothing that can be done, when, as a matter of fact, nearly all fires in homes, as elsewhere, can be prevented by intelligently eliminating or avoiding the hazards."

Iroquois Incident Will Not Be Ended, Even if Ship Reaches United States Port Safely

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Oct. 10.—The mysterious warning given by the German admiralty to the United States government that the American steamer Iroquois would be blown up under circumstances such as destroyed the British steamer Athenia has caused a stir which will not be ended when the American ship has reached the United States.

From the beginning, there have been two theories—one that a submarine would attack the Iroquois, and the other that an internal explosion, resulting possibly from a time-bomb, would sink the ship.

The government ordered warships and coast guard vessels to meet the Iroquois at sea, which ought to establish once and for all whether submarine attack was contemplated. But the presence of these patrol vessels would not be able to prevent an internal explosion on the Iroquois resulting from a bomb.

Orders have been sent to the master of the Iroquois to search his ship for explosives, but it is a difficult task to perform at sea, especially since bombs could have been concealed in trunks or baggage loaded in the hold of the ship. It is not easy to go through every trunk and to dig among the numerous crevices of a ship to locate a bomb.

The suspicion that a bomb may have been planted on the Iroquois either in an English or Irish port fits in somewhat with the fact that the Germans officially warned our naval attaché in Berlin. The German espionage system discovered the plot and did not wish to reveal its sources of information, the admiralty in Berlin would be quick to pass on the information to the American embassy, if only for the reason that such an explosion would be blamed on a German submarine.

There have been in the last few months several bomb outrages in Great Britain in which time bombs have been planted in railway stations supposedly by Irish terrorists, but nobody here can imagine why any Irish faction would seek to injure an American passenger ship. There is a possibility also that the bombs planted in England have not been the work of Irish terrorists at all, but part of the German sabotage system. The extent to which sabotage is playing a part in the present war can be gleaned only occasionally from dispatches telling of mysterious explosions in various belligerent countries. Not long ago, explosions in both German and British munition plants were recorded in the press and were believed to have been caused by planted bombs.

American citizens who have friends aboard the Iroquois have been assured by the government here that the ship is probably the "safest at sea," but this is doubtless based on the supposition that only a submarine attack could hurt the Iroquois, or that a rigid enough search has been made aboard the vessel for possible explosives.

The circumstances under which the German warning were given have aroused in Britain the cry that the Germans have criminal knowledge of an attack on an American vessel. But, looking at it solely from the German point of view, if they are innocent and believe the Iroquois is going to be sunk, they would not hesitate a moment to bear the stigma of such criticism until such time as they are able to disclose fully the sources of their information.

Various theories are being circulated here to the effect that the whole thing is a hoax designed to frighten American shipping and to keep Americans from traveling on the high seas irrespective of the outcome of the embargo fight. Another theory is that an attempt is being made to cover up on the Athenia disaster. But it is significant that, while the Athenia was sunk several weeks ago, the American government has not protested to Berlin and details have not been disclosed which would make it absolutely certain that a submarine did the damage. Affidavits have been received from persons aboard the Athenia to the effect that they saw a submarine, but, for some strange reason, the American government has not officially accepted that explanation as yet. It may well be that there are facts which may bear out the theory of an internal explosion, but this would not necessarily mean that the Germans are right in their fantastic assertion that the British did it, or that the British are right in supposing that the Germans planted the bomb.

It is conceivable that another set of alien influences have been put to work on bomb sabotage and the voyage of the Iroquois probably will clear up that aspect one way or the other before many days have passed.

If the Iroquois is damaged by a time-bomb due to explode when the ship nears the east coast of the United States, the whole world will demand further details from Berlin, and an incident of grave proportions between Germany and the United States may arise unless explanations are forthcoming. The best news Berlin and Washington can have is the safe arrival of the Iroquois in port this week.

No Cause Verdict In Deyo's Case

A verdict of no cause of action was returned in the action on note brought by William J. Deyo against Frank Sheeley, former postmaster of Creek Locks. Mr. Deyo, who operated the store when Mr. Sheeley had the post-office in the building, claimed that the defendant had taken money from the store and had given a note to guarantee payment of the money. He claimed a $1,200 note had been given him by Sheeley. In response Mr. Sheeley claimed he had given $300 to the plaintiff to square up his account. Mr. Sheeley denied that he owed a balance of $900 on note and produced a letter in which he said the plaintiff had agreed to settle the matter for $300 in cash.

Plot Is Reported To Kidnap Girls

Hollywood, Oct. 10 (AP)—Guards watched Actor Henry Fonda's home today as police disclosed a week's secret investigation into reports of a kidnap plot.

Mentioned as possible victims were the actor himself, the two-year-old daughter of Fonda and his socially-prominent wife, and Mrs. Fonda's eight-year-old daughter by a former marriage.

Pauline La Hue, 18-year-old daughter of a real estate man in San Bernardino, 60 miles east of here, told officers she overheard a street corner conversation, in which one of two men remarked "It'll be the biggest thing Hollywood ever heard of."

She said the other replied: "Well, if we can't snatch one of the kids, what is the matter with Fonda himself?" then, noticing her, growled, "Shut up, we've got company."

The girl added that a few hours later, at her home, a male voice asked her over the telephone: "Is this the blonde?" then went on to warn her: "If you want to remain as you are, you had better stop listening to conversations on street corners."

Fonda admitted "precautionary steps" but explained that the report was not being taken "too seriously." His wife is the former Frances Seymour Brokaw of New York. She is the mother of Frances De Villiers Brokaw, 8, and Jane Seymour Brokaw, 2, and is expecting another child before the end of the year.

Chemical Produces Lustrous Jewelry

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE (Associated Press Science Editor)
New York, Oct. 10—Discovery that the chemical which produces war smoke, titanium tetrachloride, will produce a stainless steel so lustrous that it can be used to make jewelry, was announced today by the Chemical Foundation.

Titanium tetrachloride, made from the dark gray metal titanium, is used for the military smoke screens and smoke bombs of all nations.

A discovery which the foundation says is amazing was made when scientists at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology mixed this stuff with an acid bath in which stainless steel was placed during experiments to make it completely impervious to corrosion.

The steel came out of this bath with a "singular luster and corrosion equivalent to that which characterizes precious metals." These are the words of the U. S. patent which was issued to Herbert Henry Uhlig, of Massachusetts Tech. He assigned the patent to the non-profit Chemical Foundation.

"Indeed," he continues, "this esthetic improvement is so marked that the products may be employed for the fabrication of jewelry."

The surface of the steel scintillates as if studded with microscopic gems.

Pulaski Day Is Proclaimed

Mayor C. J. Heiseiman today issued the following proclamation: I, Conrad J. Heiseiman, Mayor of the City of Kingston, New York, do this day proclaim Wednesday, October 11th, Pulaski Memorial Day in commemoration of the 160th anniversary of the heroic death, in the battle of Savannah, of Brigadier General Casimir Pulaski, who made the supreme sacrifice in the cause of American Independence.

Americans of Polish extraction have every reason to be proud of the noble and important part that Casimir Pulaski—Father of the American Cavalry—and Thaddeus Kosciuszko—Father of the American Artillery—played in the American Revolution.

At the birth and cradle of the United States were these two Poles of whom all true Americans are proud. All hail to their memories.

Given under my hand and seal this 10th day of October, 1939.
CONRAD J. HEISEIMAN, Mayor.

Know Tactful Phrases

Say Right Things at All Times

The words you wish you hadn't said! Tactless comments you'd like to take back!

Here's a girl tortured by regret the day after the party. To Bill, whose girl had just announced her engagement—to another man!—she said pertly, "Well, I see Jane is conspicuous by her absence."

She could have said, "I heard you are making a trip for the company—tell me about it," and enlisted Bill as a friend for life.

Don't embarrass people with personal questions, just to make conversation. Ordinary everyday occurrences become interesting when you describe them effectively. Say, "Ted signed a radio contract and went to work before the ink was dry."

Simple to stock up with tactful expressions to show approval: "A fine piece of work, I'm sure!" or "You couldn't do better!"

Add to your self-confidence, personal charm. Our 32-page booklet gives effective phrases for business and social occasions. Lists word combinations, helpful expressions that give your speech new color.

Six Men Named For Tax Evasion

New Orleans, La., Oct. 10 (AP)—A federal indictment was issued yesterday charging income tax evasion of $529,456.34 to six men described as operators of slot machines here in 1936 and 1937.

Indicted were Frank Costello, once described by New York police as a "slot machine king"; Philip Kastal of Stamford, Conn.; Philip Kastal of New York City; Dudley Geigerman, Harold Geigerman, alias Harold Miller; James Brocato, alias Jimmie Moran, and Jacob Altman, alias Jake Altman. The latter four are of New Orleans.

The indictment declared the evasions were on gross income of $2,582,375.70 from slot machine operation in New Orleans during 1936 and 1937. The government allowed deductions of $1,650,580.33 and placed the charge said income of $931,795.37 was reported but that various methods were used to evade tax payments.

The indictment alleged that Kastal and Costello owned the business. Altman was described as the bookkeeper and the Geigermans as collectors. Moran's place in the combine was not described. Costello was arrested in New York yesterday when he appeared to testify before a grand jury there. His bond and that of Jacob Altman was set at $75,000. ## Revolt Flares In Louisiana

New Orleans, La., Oct. 10 (AP)—Citizen-revolt of the type the late Huey P. Long answered with militia bayonets flared again in Louisiana today.

Bellicose reform groups, angered at the arrest yesterday of two grand jurors who sought to read a report condemning the New Orleans district attorney for what they said was shielding law violators, called a general mass meeting.

Superintendent of Police George Rayer ordered out a special detail of 30 police for the gathering. Rumors spread that National Guardsmen would be called but there was no official indication of such action.

A public court hearing was called for today on charges of seven of the 12 grand jurors that the district attorney, Charles A. Byrne, was blocking the jury's investigation of "graft and corruption." The citizens' meeting was scheduled for 30 minutes earlier in front of the court building.

Jurors Sidney DeArmas and Edgar H. Powell were arrested on orders of Judge George P. Platt when they attempted to read the charges. They were locked in an office for an hour, sentenced to that time for contempt, and then dismissed from the jury.

A grand jury was dismissed here in 1933 when it attempted to return a "no true bill" against several hundred men charged with election fraud. The National Guard was called out at that time. Two men finally were convicted but immediately pardoned by the governor. The Legislature, at Huey Long's behest, then enacted laws clearing the others.

The American Red Cross is gearing its peace-time organization of 3,700 chapters to aid war-stricken European nations with medical supplies and to assist in the repatriation of American citizens fleeing from danger zones.

HOW'S THIS FOR AN ALL STAR TEAM?

Walden Here on Wednesday For Night Game With Wasps

At the meeting of the Yellow Jackets last night in Nick Kesh's Billiard Academy, the grid-ders chose Art Delaney as captain for Wednesday night's game with the Walden Tigers at the municipal stadium.

It is the policy of the Wasps to elect a captain prior to each match, so it is up to Delaney to direct the club against the Tigers over whom the Kingstonians hold one victory, by a 6-0 score.

"I think we can make it two in a row," said Coach Don Beany, "but not without a hard fight—one that should be as thrilling as the match the Jackets played with the Newburgh Recreations."

The Reds gave the Wasps a tough go in the first night game at the stadium, sponsored by the Knights of Columbus, before approximately 2,500 fans and it is the hope of the Jackets that most of the same turnout will be on hand again for tomorrow's arc-light contest.

At last night's meeting it was decided to engage Clark's broadcasting apparatus for a play by play description of the game, with Charles J. Tiano at the mike.

Concerning his players, Coach Beany told a reporter, "The Yellow Jackets came out of the Newburgh Rec game with a few minor bruises, but outside of these they suffered no injuries to hamper them in their duel with the Tigers."

This evening a practice will be held at the new stadium for a final brush-up on plays to be used against the Walden gridders. It will start at 7 o'clock. Every player is expected to be in attendance.

Dazzling Dukes Are Favorites

Pittsburgh, Oct. 10 (AP)—Installed as heavy favorites, the Dazzling Dukes from Durham, N. C., come to Pittsburgh this weekend to take up where they left off in the snow and mud last fall with a 7-0 victory over Pitt.

But the de-fanged Panther, which went strictly amateur this year, won't concede a thing while anxiously awaiting the big test. Says genial Charley Boswell, new head man of football at the sky-scraper school house:

"Duke seems to be a lot stronger offensively this year and their defense looks just as good as it did a year ago. But I'm very well pleased with my team's showing against Washington and West Virginia—and we'll show up for the game."

Catholic League Meets Tonight

The Catholic Church Athletic Association will hold its regular monthly meeting in St. Mary's Hall this evening at 7:30. The winter sports program will be discussed at this meeting and a full attendance is requested. Anyone having barbecue tickets to settle for may do so that the meeting.

Hurley Gun Club

Approximately 93 members of the Hurley Gun Club met in the club rooms last evening, the former O. & W. Railroad station, to elect officers for the ensuing year. Those elected were Harry Merritt, president; Emory Keider, vice president; Charles H. Ashby, treasurer; and Arthur Wood, secretary. The next meeting will be held November 6, when reports of the past year will be given.

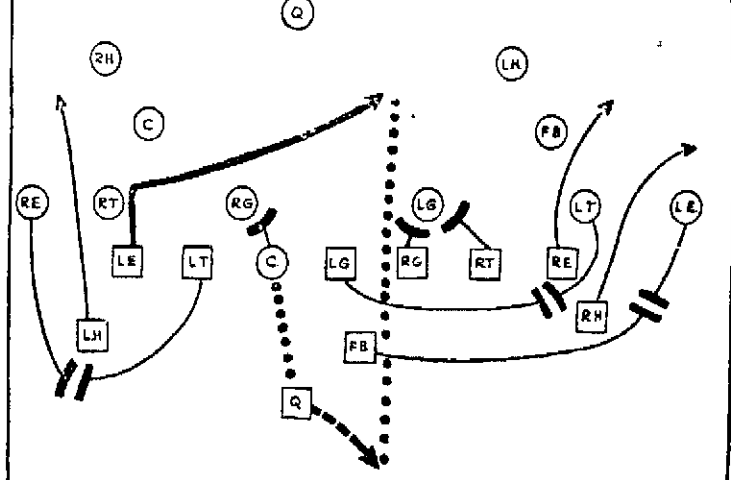

Hundreds of men and women who saw service in Red Cross units during the World War have again volunteered to carry on its humanitarian activities in the present conflict. Red Cross officials said. In addition, many young men and women, who have never had contact with the scenes of war are anxious to enlist, according to their letters of application.

T. C. U.'s Favorite Pass

By JIM CROWLEY, Fordham Coach

This is one of the pass plays that rang the bell for Texas Christian University with Sammy Baugh and then Davey O'Brien doing the pitching. This season Jack Odle will toss 'em for T. C. U. This maneuver befuddles the enemy because the Christians get four eligible receivers out into the clear—the right and left halfbacks and the right and left ends. The left end, after giving the defensive right tackle a shove, cuts into the center alley and takes the peg from the quarterback. T. C. U.'s left tackle pulls out of the unbalanced line to protect the passer from the defensive right end who has been allowed to come through.

TIDE ROLLS DOWN ON FORDHAM FOR 7-6 WIN

Alabama's Charley Boswell (58) tossed this pass to End Gene Blackwell (16) as the tide rolled down the field to score its first-period touchdown, good for a 7-6 win over vaunted Fordham in their intercollegiate tilt at New York. Blackwell is just about to gather in the piskin despite the efforts of Fordham's Martin Petroskas (23). Boswell started the fake spinner that counted Alabama's touchdown a few plays later and gave the tide the first victory ever scored by a Southern team over the Rams.

TEAMWORK KEYNOTES L. S. U. ATTACK ON HOLY CROSS

A delight to any coach's eye is this kind of teamwork—shown as L. S. U. interference led Halfback Leo Bird (41) on a five-yard thrust outside tackle in the first period of game with Holy Cross at Worcester, Mass. Irving Campbell (59), Roy Joe Anderson (72), Young break through. L. S. U. won 26-7.

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 10 (AP)—

Despite all the bloodshed, the Cincinnati Reds are still whole and alive to a toenail. The Yanks may have pounced the daylight out of them but the bones are sound and when the bruised spirit heals, the team ought to be back like a whirlwind.

While Manager Bill McKechie no doubt is thinking of improvements, and of the fact that past Yankee victims have had a time maintaining their National League prestige, this much may be said:

Prospects Good

Barring injuries or one of those mysterious things which can happen to a team over a winter, the Reds, with the present lineup, should be able to walk out next spring and win any ball game they really wanted.

Almost all the mainstays are at or near—on either side of the line—their primes, as far as age goes. Most have just had a whale of a season and few have showed the slow-up sign. All have had the seasoning that goes with a typical National League dog fight and Bill McKechie is still the boss. Until 1941, in fact.

Derringer Still Good

Paul Derringer will be 33 when the season opens, and while he may not turn in another 25 and 7 year, he is far from through. Bucky Walters, who will be almost 30, may never win 27 games in a season again, but he has a lot of victories left in the old right arm.

Gene Thompson, who will be 22, will face the sophomore jinx, but he hasn't pitched like a flash in the pan. Lee Grissom, who still may turn out to be a world-beater, will be 27, and Johnny Vander Meer, pounding the comeback trail, will be 25.

Behind the bat, Ernie Lombardi, who may have to fight for his job, will be 32, and Willard Hershberger 28. Around the infield are Frank McCormick, 26; Linus Frey, 27; Billy Myers, 29; and Bill Werber, 31.

New York—Al Reid, 128½, New York, outpointed Joey Fontana, 133½, Brooklyn, (8).

New York, Oct. 10 (AP)—President Ed Barrow of the Yankees and George Weiss, head of the Yankee farm system, are an insatiable pair, with no conscience whatever.

Fanning over the late lamented World Series, President Barrow was asked why in the world the four time champions now would have feelers out for George McQuinn, slugging young first baseman of the St. Louis Browns.

Hadn't Babe Dahlgren done well enough in the series? Hadn't he contributed as much as any Yankee toward licking the Reds in the first two games with his bat, and hadn't he fielded flawlessly in all four contests? Why McQuinn?

"Why?" echoed Barrow. "Why, because McQuinn is a fine hitter. He would make a little stronger, wouldn't he?"

Barrow said, however, and with some regret, that he didn't believe he would be able to get McQuinn.

"Aren't you a little ashamed sometimes?" Weiss then was asked. "Here the Yanks have the best team there is by a country mile. They're murdering everybody. Do you have to keep bringing up these kids like Char

Record October Heat to End In 36 Hours, Bureau Promises

(By The Associated Press)

Unseasonable record breaking heat gripped the east again today but relief that had already cooled the middle west was expected within 36 hours.

The cold front, separating the cold and warm air masses, extended through central Michigan southward through southeastern Missouri to eastern Texas. East of the front abnormally warm weather, with temperatures 10 to 20 degrees above the seasonal level, prevailed. West of the front the mercury had fallen or was falling.

General rains accompanied the relief in the Mississippi valley and the Great Lakes region, but generally fair weather prevailed elsewhere.

Forecasters predicted relief tonight or tomorrow in New York and Ohio but continued warm in Maryland, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, the District of Columbia, the Carolinas and Virginia. In contrast, frost was forecast for east and south central Iowa tonight.

The heat broke a 46 year old October 9 record in Harrisburg, Pa., yesterday when the mercury climbed to 89. Philadelphia's 86 smashed a 16 year mark. Baltimore's 91 was a record.

A bright sun in New York prompted forecasters to predict a repetition of yesterday's high of 82. Average for the date is 59.

Showers and cooler were on the menu for tonight and tomorrow. New Jersey temperatures were 10 to 20 degrees higher than a year ago during the last 48 hours. Forty-eight more hours of heat were forecast, with an 81 degree maximum.

Godoy Displaces Nova as Prospect

New York, Oct. 10 (AP)—Promoter Mike Jacobs today said Arturo Godoy, Chilean heavy-eight, had displaced Lou Nova of California as No. 1 prospect for a February bout in Madison Square Garden with Champion Joe Louis. Jacobs originally had favored Nova, beaten his last time out by Two-ton Tony Galento, but has swung to the South American since learning the latter is planning another trip to the United States.

Godoy, holder of the South American heavyweight title and winner of two decisions over Galento in 1937, is due here next month.

Woman Is Found Asleep on Tracks

Mrs. Bessie Strubie of Cottekill was found asleep on the railroad tracks at Flatbush avenue on Monday evening, and was placed under arrest on a charge of public intoxication.

This morning Judge Cahill in police court warned her that it was only by chance that she escaped being run over by a train. She told the court in reply to questions that she is married and has three children.

Judge Cahill imposed a jail sentence of 10 days but suspended the serving of the sentence provided she keep sober in the future.

Citizenship Denied

Berlin, Oct. 10 (AP)—Prince Ernst Rudiger Von Starhemberg, exiled former vice-chancellor of Austria and former leader of the disbanded Austrian Fascist army, the Heimwehr, was deprived of German citizenship today by the Nazi government and his property was confiscated. His disfranchisement was published in the official gazette together with the names of 155 others, most of whom were Jews. (The prince, who is now in France, recently asked permission of the Surete Nationale to organize an Austrian brigade to fight Germany. The offer was taken under advisement.)

Culliton Re-named Democratic Leader In Ulster County

Democratic committeemen of Ulster county, many of them represented by proxies, gathered in the court room at the court house Monday night for reorganization of the county Democratic Committee, and other business of the biennial session.

Former City Judge B. A. Culliton, chairman of the county committee for six years, was re-elected unanimously to that office. The same course was followed with respect to the vice-chairman, Margaret Kennedy, of Kingston, and the treasurer, William Edelmuth, both of whom have seen long service with the Democratic organization. Harry T. Fieger of Saugerties, recently named to the Board of Elections, was elected secretary of the committee.

In again accepting the chairmanship of the committee, Judge Culliton told the workers that while they might feel sometimes that Ulster county did not get all the recognition that it ought to have, they should bear in mind that the "handing out is done in the place where results are the best."

Rules and regulations of the committee which have been in force for a period of years, again were adopted.

In calling attention to registration days and the necessity for getting voters registered and then seeing that they came out to the polls, the chairman said that this was an "off year" as elections go and referred to the fact that there was apt to be a difference of around 10,000 votes in Ulster county between those cast in off years and the total at times when a comparatively full vote was gotten out. He urged that an attempt be made to bring out more of these voters and said, "They can't all be Republican voters, these 10,000 that they bring out every four years."

The real news of the evening came at the conclusion of the business of organization, when George J. Mutari of Saugerties was recognized and announced that he was a candidate for the office of state senator from the district. "I am throwing my hat into the ring for the office of state senator at the next election," said Mr. Mutari, adding that he would say nothing more at this time except that he "expected the cooperation of every committeeman."

Mr. Mutari was active for some years in promoting taxpayers associations and was his party's nominee for sheriff at the time Sheriff Molyneux was elected for his first term.

Democratic candidates for office were introduced and spoke briefly. Eugene B. Carcy, nominee for mayor, praised the Democratic party, which, he said, was "clean as a white tooth," and claimed that the Democratic administration of the city in 1932-33 had "done many things they said couldn't be done."

John DeWitt, nominee for district attorney, charged that "laxity," and "perhaps favoritism," had been shown in the conduct of that office and declared that Le-labor now enjoys under the act. At the top of his legislative program Lewis placed unemployment, whose solution he termed a challenge to democracy.

"The struggle to achieve a decent standard of living and to improve the condition of the masses of workers, must take the form of securing legislation for an adequate housing program, adequate social security benefits, unemployment relief and health protection."

He sharply criticized the federal government for cutting WPA and PWA programs which he said fostered such a "great burden of employable workers" upon overloaded state and local relief programs that they break down.

To Address Baptists

When the Baptists of New York meet in Albany on October 24, their state convention will be addressed by the Rev. Earl Fredrick Adams of New York, the general director of the Northern Baptist Council on Finance and Promotion. During his residence in Buffalo he was active in social service work. He was a director and vice president of the Buffalo Rotary Club and was sent by that organization to three meetings of the Rotary International, including one held in France.
